

Sexual Lives & Respectful Relationships (SL&RR): Our Mission

The Sexual Lives & Respectful Relationships research team at Deakin University improves sexuality and relationship outcomes for people with intellectual disability.

Our work transforms knowledge and practice through collaborative and unprecedented research, done in partnership with people with disability.

We co-develop programs and resources, and share our expertise and this work through the SL&RR program. The program is an empowering network of Peer Educators and community partners (Program Partners) who support people with intellectual disability. Together, they change attitudes and approaches to violence, abuse prevention, and sexuality education.

For more information, get in touch at:

slrr@deakin.edu.au

03 5247 9273

www.slrr.com.au

deakin.edu.au

Deakin University CRICOS Provider Code: 00113B

